

Greetings to you all!

A couple of weeks ago we conducted our first hybrid meeting – a combination of Zoom and an inhouse meeting at the San Antonio Garden Center. It was a bit rough technically, but we got it done. The beauty of it all is that it granted us the option to meet at the Garden Center or participate via Zoom. Our hybrid meeting granted us flexibility. With the things we've done this part year through technology – virtual exhibitions, remote meetings, mini demos – we are only limited by ourselves.

As we move forward as an organization, we can look forward to some exciting activities. The biggest being our next exhibition. It is currently in the planning stages, so keep watch and start planning (or putting the finishing touches) on your next masterpiece.
